zep files and start the menu "Audio Library" 2) When it is installed, you can find the "File">> Audio Library menu item from the main menu. It opens a new window where you can select an audio file to upload. 3) After completing the uploading process, you can find the newly created audio file in your sequence's library, and you are ready to create audio parameters based on the file. Even if you have an external audio editor available, iZotope offers an audio-based editing library (AE-X) that allows you to edit audio files created with other audio editors. More Details ----- iZotope offers a digital audio engine (DAE) designed specifically to provide audio professionals a fast, reliable, and a highly accurate post-processing tool. When you use the iZotope DAE's presets, you can try out the effects without any additional settings. No need to navigate menus or settings, just press the "Apply" button and you get a preview. The presets are developed by professionals, in the same way, when they created the original presets, they did it with the intent to help you make your tracks sound their best. The DAE presets are licensed under a per-preset-per-user basis. The current number of licenses is only 200. iZotope offers two ways to use iZotope DAE. The first way is the DAE License option, where you have access to all DAE presets. If you purchase the iZotope DAE License option, you can use the presets whenever you want. The second way is the DAX license option, which is a separate plugin with its own license and you can only use it when editing audio files created with that DAE plugin. DAX license users have access to 8 DAE presets only. You can read more about DAX license here: . DAE's presets are designed for a wide variety of mixing tasks. From there, you can choose which one fits your need, depending on the audio content you are working with, you can use one or more. All DAE presets are available in 32-bit and 64-bit flavors.
